

WATCH U. S. SHAKE FROM ITS TURRET TO FOUNDATIONS

They've Indicted Mr. Page for Libelling Congress and He's Glad of It.

"Right, old top, they've indicted me. Now they'll see how a 'dashed Britisher' can fight to the death. Old fellow, when we're through with this case we will have shaken the nation from turret to foundation stone."

Thus H. W. A. Page, wealthy commission merchant in linen and cottons, of No. 6 West Twentieth street, loyal subject to King George V., "God bless 'im," who has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in Washington on the charge of criminally libelling Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, Chairman of the House Committee on Judiciary, and other members of Congress.

Page was arrested this afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal Reed. He was taken at once before Commissioner Shields, where he was represented by Samuel Bell Thomas of No. 38 Broadway. On behalf of his client Mr. Thomas waived examination and agreed to produce Page before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia April 19. Bail was fixed at $5,000, and Page was permitted to remain in the custody of the Marshal until a representative of the Illinois Surety Company could make up the papers.

Attorney Henry W. A. Atkins of Washington, of the Department of Justice, appeared as prosecutor.

Mr. Page was waiting in his office for his arrest when he told to-day the story of his five-year fight to have named in Congress a bill to create a special committee to investigate the courts of New York.

HIS OWN COUNSEL, BUT OLD ADVICE FAILS.

"I am willing to go to Washington voluntarily," he said, "and there I will give bond. Up to date I am my own counsel. I know they say such a counsel has a fool for his client, but I'm no fool; I'll make them all admit that before I am through with them."

Mr. Page's war against the courts of New York and against the State Legislature and Congress began with the legal troubles with his wife, Mrs. Jeanne France Page. Page is regarded as wealthy. He is a thorough-going Englishman with a decided accent. He came to America twenty years ago, meeting the woman he married on one of his latter visits to his home in England. She came here and they were married in New Jersey.

On March 1, 1907, Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis granted to Mrs. Page a limited divorce, with alimony of $4,000 a year, and custody of their three children. Mr. Page appealed. Feb. 21, 1908, the Appellate Division decided against him. Justice Ingraham, who wrote the decision, severely criticized Mr. Page for his conduct toward his wife.

In April, 1908, while the Pages were living at No. 242 West Twenty-third street, Mrs. Page was ordered confined to St. Xavier's sanatorium at Inwood-on-Hudson, her husband, it is alleged, charging that she was habitually intoxicated. Friends who heard of her plight secured her release on a writ of habeas corpus, physicians declaring she was not a drug fiend or addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants.

The separation suit followed. Mrs.

Page was represented by Black, Olcott, Gruber, Hunyady and McKenna.

FAILED TO GET LEGISLATIVE INVESTIGATION.

After the suit, Page sought to secure from District Attorney Jerome and later from District Attorney Whitman a thorough investigation into his charges that perjury had been used in the case against him, and that his charges against Justice Davis were substantiated. The District Attorney, it is said, took no action. Page later sought to secure the passage of a bill in Albany creating a legislative committee to investigate his charges against attorneys, judges and witnesses. Here, too, he had no success.

In December, 1911, Congressman John E. Baker of California submitted to the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington, Page's famous "Death of Liberty" pamphlet. This is the size of a sheet of music, the cover bearing a great mourning border. This pamphlet called for the appointment of a congressional committee to probe Page's charges against the State courts. No action was taken on it, further than having it referred to the Judiciary Committee, of which Mr. Clayton is Chairman. Then followed voluminous correspondence between Clayton and Page, the latter demanding that Clayton introduce a bill calling for the action he wished. When Mr. Clayton refused to do so Page had printed his celebrated pamphlet which caused his indictment.

The pamphlet contains what experts declare is the greatest bunch of adjectives of invective in captivity. Mr. Clayton is accused of high crimes and misdemeanors. This pamphlet, according to its caption, is addressed to the Sixty-second Congress, all members of the State Legislature at Albany, all Governors of States, all members of the press gallery in Washington, and all members of the British Parliament.

GOING TO HELP DOWN-TRODDEN AMERICANS TO SEE LIGHT.

"I'm a blasted Britisher, thank God," continued Page in the course of a prolonged interview, "but, by God, sir, I'm going to help you poor, down-trodden Americans to see the light as I see it. The fact that I'm an Englishman does not deprive me of rights as an American citizen, and American courts have been closed against me. And is that right? Eh, what, old top?"

"They all conspired against me. The chief evidence against me is in my wife's separation suit was a scene that took place in the Buckingham Hotel. It was what you Americans call a 'frame up.' They brought my wife before me. When I saw her condition I had what Harry Thaw called a 'brain storm.'" said and did a lot of things. Do you blame me, old top? Eh, what?"

In his various fights before the courts, especially in the Court of Appeals, which declined to hear the case, Page made serious charges against Justice Davis, charged perjury against several witnesses who appeared for his wife, at the same time charging perjury and subornation of perjury and conspiracy against the attorneys who represented his wife.

In his memorial to Congress and in his open letter to Congressman Clayton, which caused his indictment, Page asked himself and answered several questions. Among them are:

"Do Congressmen take a solemn oath to defend the Constitution against all its enemies?"

"Yes."

"Do Congressmen keep this solemn oath?"

"No."

"Why do Congressmen not keep this solemn oath?"

"Because CONGRESSMEN are CROOKS."

The word "crooks" is printed in red ink, the others in black.

SUES "BIG BILL" EDWARDS FOR MARKED DECOY BILLS.

Jacobs, Who Was Arrested in Snow Removal Frauds, Wants Money Found Upon Him.

David Jacobs, who was arrested in connection with the snow removal frauds in 1908, today filed a suit in the City Court to recover $200 from "Big Bill" Edwards, Street Cleaning Commissioner, which he claims represents money of his in Edwards's possession.

Edwards, represented by Assistant Corporation Counsel Martin, charges that the money consisted of marked bills which he loaned for the purpose of trapping Jacobs, who was selling tickets indicating that snow had been removed. The Commissioner said he advanced the $200 from his own pocket to Commissioner of Accounts Porter F. Adee, who turned the money over to Jacobs for snow tickets.

Jacobs was arrested and the money, with some snow tickets, was taken from him. The cash was returned to Edwards, but Jacobs now claims it belongs to him.

INSANE WOMAN FIGHTS COPS.

Gore Crazy in Hotel and Hurts Furniture at Policemen.

Mrs. Fredericka Muench, of No. 33 Keep street, Williamsburg, became violently insane in the Hotel Woodstock to-day and was removed to Bellevue only after she had fought for quarter of an hour with Policemen McKnight and Oak of the West Thirty-seventh street station. Mrs. Muench, who is about forty years old, went to the hotel alone last night and registered under her own name. Nothing peculiar was noticed about her by the clerk. It was reported at the office to-day that she was singing German martial airs and throwing furniture about. Later it was said she was screaming incoherently. The manager and two clerks went to the room and she drove them out. She seemed in wild terror. Dr. Shever of Park avenue and Fifty-second street said she must be removed to a hospital. When policemen were called in she backed into a corner and threw furniture and the water picher at them, bruising and cutting both severely. When controlled she became calmer and said she had several children at home. She said she thought the policemen were soldiers who had come to kill her.

HOW NATURE CURES CONSTIPATION
And Why Drugs Are Being Used Less and Less for That Purpose.

The custom of Internal Bathing for keeping the intestines pure, clean and free from poisonous matter—curing constipation, biliousness and the more serious diseases which they bring on—has become so universally popular, and so scientifically correct in its application, as to merit the most serious consideration.

Drugs for this purpose have proven that their doses must be constantly increased to be effective, that they force Nature instead of assisting her, and, once taken, must be continued.

On the contrary, the scientifically constructed Internal Bath gently assists Nature, but is infinitely more thorough in its cleanliness than any drug, no matter what its nature.

The J. B. L. Cascade, which is now being used and praised by thousands and prescribed by many eminent physicians, is now being shown and explained by all Riker-Hegeman Drug Stores in New York and Brooklyn.

Its action is so simple and natural as to immediately appeal to all common sense. That is the reason for its great and deserved popularity. Ask for booklet "Why Man of To-day Is Only 50% Efficient."
